- COMMENTARY (10 April 1997) — The biggest news around here is that I have been selected for the Sackler Fellowship in Art History at Oxford, for two years beginning 1 October 1997. During those two years, I shall be working on the publication of the Shamma collection, which is on loan to the Ashmolean Museum for 10 years, as well as revising my autumn 1996 lectures for publication as a monograph. Naturally, I'll be commuting regularly to Santa Rosa in order to keep the business going, to price coins, type lists, do the accounts, etc. And I am now serious about getting on line, as I may try to do some on-line selling. The ten-per-year list schedule should continue uninterrupted, and Doug will be holding down the fort on a regular basis.
- Another bit of great news is that Alexander Akin, who has helped me out from time to time, has been accepted with full financial fellowship to the graduate program in Chinese history at Harvard, beginning in September 1997. He will be here for the latter half the summer of 1997 and probably the entire summer of 1998.
