COMMENTARY: First of all, let me thank everyone for their positive comments on the photo list #187. The learning process was complex, and there is undoubtedly still a lot to learn with both PageMaker and Photo Shop Elements, but both Joe and I are gradually becoming more comfortable with the software. We hope that list #189, the next photo list, will have finer images (200 instead of 160 dpi) and somewhat larger dark/light contrast. And I must repeat that it has been Joe who has done the overwhelming portion of the production labor for list #187, from snapping the digital photos to emerging text and illustrations.

May we request one small favor? Our accounting software (Quick Books) does not indicate an existing credit memo when we type a software, so if you could remind us that you have a credit memo, that would be helpful. Thanks! It's a software glitch!
