"The Persian parliament had approved on 16 February 1931 a loan to the ministry of trade and industry to meet the capital expenditure required for the establishment of a mint. The machinery and required equipment for this new mint had been ordered in Germany. Moreover, in February 1931 two German experts were appointed to run the operations of the mint." — Rashid Khatib-Shahidi.

PCGS graded MS64, RRR $30,000 - 40,000

The Arab Kingdom of Syria was a self-proclaimed, unrecognized state that began as a "fully and absolutely independent Arab constitutional government" announced on 5 October 1918 with the permission of the British military and gained de facto independence as an "Emirate" after the withdrawal of the British forces from OETA (Occupied Enemy Territory Administration) East on 26 November 1919. It was proclaimed as a Kingdom on 8 March 1920.

As a "Kingdom" it existed only a little over four months, from 8 March to 25 July 1920. During its brief existence, the kingdom was led by Sharif Hussein bin Ali's son Faisal bin Hussein. Despite its claims to the territory of Greater Syria, Faisal's government controlled a limited area and was dependent on Britain which, along with France, generally opposed the idea of a Greater Syria and refused to recognize the kingdom. The kingdom surrendered to French forces on 25 July 1920. Faisal then lived in exile in England for about one year before being proclaimed King of Iraq.

1656. ARAGON: René of Anjou, claimant, 1466-1472, AV pacífic (3.26g), Barcelona, Cru.V.S.-925, facing crowned bust within multifoil, holding lis-tipped scepter on the left and globe on the right, + RENAT9 PRIM DEI GRA REX ARAGO // crowned coat-of-arms of Aragon within multifoil, strong VF, RR $4,000 - 5,000

First struck in 1465 during the Catalan Civil War (1462-1472), the pacífic was, to our knowledge, the first medieval European gold coin to feature a facing bust of the ruler since the Byzantine histamenon three centuries earlier. This new denomination was created at the impetus of Pedro, the Constable of Portugal, a cultured ruler (and a coin collector in his own right) who very much understood the propaganda value of a well-designed currency amid a civil war.

The handsome coin turned out to be a success among the Catalans and was exchanged at well above its gold content, thus earning the pretender king important revenue for his flagging campaigns.

Such was its popularity that after Pedro's premature death in 1466, both his successor, René, and his enemy, Juan II, placed their own facing busts on the coin. The latter eventually went on to name it the pacífic to commemorate the eventual pacification of Catalonia.

In 1986, the British Royal Mint received orders to mint Ugandan coins in five denominations: 1 shilling, 50 cents, 20 cents, 10 cents, and 5 cents. However, months later, the order was changed. The sizes, weights, and designs all remained the same, with the only difference being the denominations that appeared on the coin. The change was as follows: 1 shilling became 10 shillings, 50 cents became 5 shillings, 20 cents became 2 shillings, 10 cents became 1 shilling, and the 5 cent denomination was abandoned. Many 1 shilling and 5 cent coins were struck before the order was changed, but when it became apparent that a change was necessary, the coins were held. The Mint held all the coins for a couple years before they were seemingly scrapped. Examples of the 1 shilling and 5 cent pieces are located in the Royal Mint Museum, as are trial strikes of the 20 cent and 10 cent.

1753. MEXICO: Republic, AE centavo, 1899-M, KM-394.1, key date and low mintage! PCGS graded AU55, RR $200 - 300

1754. MEXICO: Republic, AR 25 centavos, 1875-Ho, KM-406.6, assayer R, double die obverse, uncertain overdate, key date and very rare issue with only a few pieces known, VF, RRR $300 - 500

1755. MEXICO: Republic, AR 50 centavos, 1875-Do, KM-407.3, assayer M, an attractive lightly toned mint state example! PCGS graded MS61 $200 - 300

A very rare quality for this date and mint.

1756. MEXICO: Republic, AR peso, 1908-Mo, KM-409.2, a superb mint state example! PCGS graded MS65 $150 - 250

1757. MEXICO: AE 10 centavos, ND (1890), Rulau-Ver-25; cf. Grove-1637, token issue for the Hacienda de Tuxpango, questionable color, PCGS graded UNC details $250 - 350

Likely part of a series of specimens produced by the German firm Lauer in Nuremberg in the 1890s. The Hacienda de Tuxpango was a sugar cane plantation near Ixtaczoquitlan in Veracruz.

1758. MEXICO: Republic, LOT of 9 of contemporary imitations: ¼ real: 1836/5-Mo as KM-358; 1 real: 1826-GoMJ as KM-372.6; 1828/7-ZsAO lead as KM-374.12; 8 reales: 1846-CaRG as KM-377.2 edge cut and 1841-MoML as KM-377.10; 10 centavos: 1878-GaA bronze as KM-403.4 (imaginary date!), 1873-MoM brass as KM-403.7, and 1872-ZsH as KM-403.10; and peso: 1872-MoO as KM-408.5; interesting mix; average circulated grades; retail value $375, lot of 9 imitations $140 - 190

1759. MEXICO: Estados Unidos, AR 2 pesos, 1921-Mo, KM-462, Centennial of Independence, beautiful russet toning, one-year type, PCI graded MS64 $475 - 625

According to the consignor, these older PCI holders are developing a following in some segments of the market.

United States of America

1775. UNITED STATES: AE Fugio Cent. Pointed rays, cinquefoils, "UNITED STATES", 1 over horizontal 1 (9.77g), 1787, KM-EA31.2var, Br-1309. N-10G, sometimes called 1 over lazy 1, Good, RRR (R7) $160 - 200

1776. UNITED STATES: Draped Bust 10 cents, 1805, KM-31, JR-2, variety with 4 berries, lightly cleaned, starting to retone, PCGS graded XF Details $1,000 - 1,400

1777. UNITED STATES: AR Draped Bust dollar, 1800, KM-32, B-19b, the AMERICAI variety, with vertical "I" after AMERICA, and obverse and reverse die cracks, small scrape behind head, in PCGS Genuine holder, VG-F, R-3 (Bolender) $500 - 600

1778. UNITED STATES: Draped Bust dollar, 1803, KM-32, Bolender-6a, some luster in protected areas, fine die crack connects all stars on right, reverse rotated about 20 degrees counterclockwise, NGC graded VF30, R4 (Bolender) $2,400 - 3,000

Mintages were relatively small for Bust dollars in the years 1801-1803. Because of this, only two reverse dies were used for all Bust dollars during these years!

1779. UNITED STATES: AR 50 cents, 1806, KM-35, O-114, very lightly cleaned long ago, but with a very pleasing appearance, ANACS graded VF20 details, R-5 (Overton) $450 - 550

1780. UNITED STATES: AR Bust half dollar, 1821, KM-37, O-103A, die crack from below date, toned, old NGC holder, NGC graded AU53, R3 (Overton) $600 - 800

1781. UNITED STATES: AR Seated Liberty dollar, 1850-O, KM-71, cf. Bowers p.682-3, Breen-5444, closed 5 variety, better date/mintmark, cleaned, but has nearly completely retoned, NGC graded XF Details $650 - 850

Bowers states that some writers call the 1850-O a great rarity in any and all grades. Breen suggests that many 1850-O dollars may have been melted.

1782. UNITED STATES: AR Seated Liberty dollar, 1859-O, KM-71, Br-5458, a few digs, cleaning not readily apparent, variety with thin numerals in date, NGC graded AU details $250 - 350

1783. UNITED STATES: AV 3 dollars, 1856, KM-84, Indian Head type, mintage of 26,010, mount removed, Fine $300 - 350

1784. UNITED STATES: nickel 3 cents, 1885, KM-95, mintage of only 3,790 pieces, lustrous, PCGS graded Proof 64 CAC, S $325 - 425

1785. UNITED STATES: nickel 3 cents, 1887/6, KM-95, strong overdate PCGS graded Proof 64+ CAC, S $400 - 500

There were only 2,960 pieces made in proof in 1887, including both the overdate and regular date varieties. This overdate variety is one of the few overdates in United States proof coinage. Interestingly, a different die with the overdate was used for business strikes, a fact that has not been readily recognized.

1786. UNITED STATES: Seated Liberty 20 cents, 1875, KM-109, Br-3872, , very lightly cleaned, better date, PCGS graded XF Details $250 - 350

1787. UNITED STATES: AR dollar, 1880-S, Morgan, an amazing quality example! PCGS graded MS67 $900 - 1,000

Produced as part of the first series of coins struck in and for New South Wales, these 15 pence "dumps" were cut from Spanish colonial 8 Reales to relieve chronic shortages of usable coinage in the relatively new Australian colony. Stamped with a value of fifteen pence, the plugs were deliberately valued below their actual silver content to ensure that they would not be exported out of the colony through trade, as many previously circulating coins had been. Being a type intended for and heavily used in circulation, most of the new coinage was heavily worn and eventually turned in when recalled, leaving few survivors.

1823. NEW ZEALAND: LOT of 3 ICCS-graded coins: silver 6 pence 1942 MS-65, silver shilling 1942 MS-65, and shilling 1965 PF-64, a lovely little trio, retail value $250, lot of 3 coins $150 - 250

1824. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: bronze hinged bracelet (1002g), ca. 85mm in diameter, consisting of two halves hinged at one end and holed at the other for fastening, decorated with floral and geometric patterns throughout, a lovely and hefty example, choice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 200

1825. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: hippopotamus tusk (384g), Opitz p.157, ca. 40cm from base to tip, used in trade for iron, tobacco and clothing in Timbuktu, VF, ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 250

Acquired by the consignor from an old collection in 1992, whose previous owner had it for many years.

1826. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: hippopotamus tusk (392g), Opitz p.157, ca. 40cm from base to tip, used in trade for iron, tobacco and clothing in Timbuktu, VF, ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 250

Acquired by the consignor from an old collection in 1992, whose previous owner had it for many years.

1827. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: iron axe, Opitz p.17, 19cm-long iron axe head with dotted patterns, fitted with ca. 50cm curved wooden handle, wrapped in copper wires and embedded with copper studs, made by tribes in central Africa and often used as money, a well-designed and intricately crafted example! EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $250 - 350

The gentle curvature of the handle not only gives this axe an elegant look, but also allows the axe head to deliver maximal impact.

1828. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: iron hoe (501g), 37.5 x 12.5cm, consisting of a sharp spike ending in bifurcated spirals, its shaft wrapped in a coiled strip and attached to a large circular rattle, a very interesting piece! VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $200 - 400

1829. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: iron hoe (579g), 43.5cm, with a slightly curved 31-cm blade and a bifurcating handle that ends in two spirals, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1830. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: iron ogoja penny (162g), Opitz p.244 (plate example), Quiggin p.87, 42.5 x 24cm, used by many tribes in western and central Africa, VF, ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1831. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: iron poleaxe, 59cm in length and 24cm at the widest, decorated with floral patterns and imitative Arabic calligraphy, bottom end wrapped in reptile skin, VF-EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $300 - 500

1832. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: AE king manilla (1881g), Opitz p.214 (plate example), 24mm thick and 255mm at the widest (4.1 lbs), with flattened ends and 8-faceted surface decorated with annulets, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $300 - 400

At an equivalent of 100 manillas, the king manilla was not used in daily trade but was a store of wealth and bride price. Acquired by the consignor in August 1990.

1833. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: leather bag, 16.5 x 13.5cm, red sewn leather bag decorated with palm tree figure and striped patterns, threaded with strap, containing a desiccated paw of a large predator (58 x 95mm) with five attached claws plus four loose claws, partial tear in one of the strap holders, a very unusual item! VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 200

This item was brought back from Africa in the 1920's by missionaries. The significance of the animal paw and claws is unknown, as the consignor was entirely unaware of their existence.

1834. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: trade bead necklace (389g), Opitz p.42, string of classic 4-layer "rosetta" chevron beads, with 26 large blue, white and red beads ranging from 14mm to 18mm in diameter, lovely example, EF*,*
ex Charles Opitz Collection $220 - 280

NOTE: Many items in this section are not shown to scale. Please read the descriptions for actual sizes.

1835. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: LOT of 4 bronze bracelets, all ca. 75mm wide, decorated with different patterns and geometric designs, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 200

1836. ETHNOGRAPHIC: AFRICA: LOT of 4 copper bracelets, from 7 to 13.5cm wide, the largest one made from copper inlaid with a spiraling iron strip, the others made from a single bar of copper and decorated with intricately etched patterns*,*
ex Charles Opitz Collection $140 - 180

1837. ETHNOGRAPHIC: BRUNEI: brass cannon money (1516g), 19th to early 20th century, Opitz p.100, SS p.529-30, 298mm barrel, fastened on a 224mm wheeled mount with two screws, etched with decorative patterns, used in Brunei, Sabah and Sarawak and other parts of southeast Asia, a particularly large and impressive example! EF, RR, ex Charles Opitz Collection* $400 - 600

These miniature cannons were made of various metals including bronze, brass, copper, and iron, and were actually fired on important occasions such as weddings and the birth of children. Valued by weight at $25-30 a picul, they were used extensively for a multitude of purposes, such as the barter of goods, bride price, payment of fines and the purchase of slaves (a slave being valued in piculs of brass guns). With the introduction of coins, these cannons gradually fell out of use. Many were also melted down during World War II, which accounts for their rarity today.

1838. ETHNOGRAPHIC: BURMA: bronze opium weight (1592g), 19th to early 20th century, Opitz p.376-8, 130 x 72mm, hintha bird, cast to a standard of 100 kyat or baht (3.51 lbs) and the heaviest class of opium weights, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $300 - 500

1839. ETHNOGRAPHIC: BURMA: carnelian necklace (560g), consisting of 3 stands of carnelian (each ca. 52cm long) and a single glass marble, all attached at both ends to a cord with two clam shells and brass coils, a lovely example from the Chin people of western Myanmar, choice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $200 - 300

1840. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CAMEROUN: iron ensuba (580g), Opitz p.141 (plate example), Knox p.28, Gibbs-553, triangular iron plate money, used by the Bafia people to purchase wives, a very rare specimen, VF, RR, ex Charles Opitz Collection, ex Howard Gibbs Collection $400 - 500

1841. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CENTRAL AFRICAN REPUBLIC: iron knife (305g), Opitz p.184 (plate example), 35cm, sharp blade decorated with dotted patterns, with wooden handle carefully wrapped in copper wire, made by the Yakoma people of central Africa, a very well-made example! VF-EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection, ex Schulman 9/30/71 Auction #533 $280 - 340

1842. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CENTRAL AFRICAN REPUBLIC: iron melote spade (314g), Opitz p.221 (plate example), Quiggin p.96-97, 12.2 x 18.2cm, made by the Bongo people of Central Africa in trade and as a form of money, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1843. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CHAD: iron hashshash hoe (332g), Opitz p.155, 21.5 x 10.5cm, made and used as money by the Wadai people of eastern Chad & western Sudan, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 200

1844. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): axe money (399g), Opitz p.20 (plate example), Zirngibl-149, consisting of a 13-cm wide iron blade with decorated copper inlay, mounted on a 40cm-long lacquered wooden club, made by the Songye people, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $250 - 350

Opitz divides African metal currencies into 3 rough categories based on their utility. The first category includes objects where the distinction between their use as tools and use as money is minor. The second category includes those that retain their original shape, but are made of a finer, perhaps less practical material. Objects in the last category have completely lost their shape as practical tools and instead have a standardized weight and size, and is therefore strictly a currency. As metal was a scarce commodity in Africa before the 20th century, all three categories were considered extremely valuable and widely used in exchanges.

1845. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): copper legband (1526g), Opitz p.201, Ballarini p.115, ca. 18 x 17 x 10cm, used by the Mbole people in marriage transactions, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 200

1846. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): copper legband (2185g), Opitz p.201, Ballarini p.115, ca. 22 x 22 x 15.5cm, used by the Mbole people in marriage transactions, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $200 - 250

1847. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): iron bangala spearhead (810g), until the late 1800's, Opitz p.313 (plate example), Ballarini p.120-121, 39 x 16cm, with a fish-shaped body with a bulbous tip and finned ends, used by the Ngbaka people as currency (locally known simply as mbili ngbaka, "money of the Ngbaka"), as its blunt edges make it impractical as a weapon, nice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $140 - 180

1848. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): iron sword (305g), Fischer-240, 54cm (21"), with carved wooden handle, made by the Luba people of central DR Congo, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $180 - 240

Brought from Africa by a missionary in 1924.

1849. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): iron throwing knife (356g), Opitz p.347 (plate example), Knox p.28, 46 x 32cm, consisting of three blade and a spike, decorated with simple patterns, made by the Azande people of DR Congo, CAR and South Sudan, VF-EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $250 - 350

1850. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): iron throwing knife (397g), Opitz p.347 (plate example), Fischer-168, ca. 42 x 35cm, consisting of three blades on a wooden handle, made by the Mbaka people of DR Congo and CAR and used as money, choice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $200 - 300

1851. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): iron throwing knife (429g), Opitz p.344-51, Kipinga-59, ca. 42.5 x 33cm, consisting of three blades on a handle made from woven plant fiber, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 200

1852. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): zappozap axe (648g), Opitz p.382 (plate example), consisting of a 38cm-long club wrapped in reptile skin, and a 20.5cm-long iron blade decorated with human faces and floral patterns, still very sharp, made by the Songye people of central DR Congo, EF, R, ex Charles Opitz Collection $300 - 500

Zappozap (or nzappa zap, nsapo, kilonda, kasuyu) is a traditional weapon from the upper Congo region, similar to an axe or hatchet. It was usually crafted by the Nsapo people who thrived industrially from iron and copper. The axe is forged from iron while the handle is usually made of wood covered in copper. Originally used as a brutal weapon in battle, Congo axes were later used more to denote rank or office than as a wealth display, though there are accounts of their use as bride price.

1853. ETHNOGRAPHIC: CONGO (REPUBLIC): brass ridged crescent (685g), Opitz p.124, 123 x 50mm, semicircular bar with ridged exterior, used like bullion by the Kwele people (Bakwele) of eastern Central Africa, excellent well-cast example, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1854. ETHNOGRAPHIC: ETHIOPIA: LOT of 6 silver pendants with hand-etched decorative patterns, including three crosses (one 11.8 x 8.3cm, another 10 x 6.5cm, the other 5.5 x 4.7cm; cf. Opitz p.126), and 3 large round earrings (ca. 4.5cm in diameter), retail value $350, lot of 6 pieces, ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 250

1855. ETHNOGRAPHIC: INDONESIA: Alor Island, AE moko drum (5418g), ca. 1900, Opitz p.226, 44 x 27cm, cylindrical drum with tapered waist and four handles, decorated with floral and mythical motifs, used on Alor and neighboring islands as bride price and in other exchanges, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $800 - 1,000

1856. ETHNOGRAPHIC: INDONESIA: Sumba, AV mamuli earring (34.89g), Opitz p.208 (bottom left plate example), Rodgers-127, 65 x 65mm, made with 12-carat gold, hollow diamond-shaped body with key hole-shaped opening (reportedly shaped after the female sexual organ), two water buffaloes standing on descenders and facing outward, decorated with small pellets throughout, used on Sumba Island in marriages, buying land and peace offerings, a gorgeous example with fine details, lovely UNC, R, ex Charles Opitz Collection $1,000 - 1,500

1857. ETHNOGRAPHIC: IVORY COAST: AE anklet (1764g), Opitz p.276, ca. 12cm tall and 15.5cm wide, hollow, decorated with linear patterns on the surface, used by the Baoulé people as part of a dowry, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1858. ETHNOGRAPHIC: JAPAN: e-ma shrine offering (1525g), consisting of 103 Kan'ei Tsuho 4 mon and a Tai He Zhong Bao charm, arranged in the shape of a ship and nailed to a 25.5 x 35cm wooden board, hung on the wall of households as an offering for prosperity, VF, ex Charles Opitz Collection $400 - 600

Acquired by the consignor from an old collection.

1859. ETHNOGRAPHIC: KATANGA: AE cross money (618g), Opitz p.124, Sigler p.17, so called "Katanga cross", 19.8 x 19.6cm, produced ca. 1750-1920, dark red patina, used for a variety of purposes from purchasing slaves to paying tribute, nice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $80 - 120

1860. ETHNOGRAPHIC: MALAYSIA & INDONESIA: kris dagger, Opitz p.188, also known as keris, ca. 54cm in total length, with wavy blade, fitted with wooden handle and scabbard, iconic weapon native to Malaysia & Indonesia and once used as bride price, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $180 - 240

1861. ETHNOGRAPHIC: MEXICO: SET of 8 bronze axehead money ca. 800-1200 AD, Opitz p.24-26, representing a virtually complete range of shapes and sizes from 51.5g to 2g, including Hosler Types 1a, 1b, 2a, 2b, 3a, 3b, and 4b, made from copper-arsenic bronze and likely used for tribute and exchange, ex Charles Opitz Collection $180 - 240

1862. ETHNOGRAPHIC: MICRONESIA: Yap, rai stone money (566g), ca. 1871-1931, Opitz p.316 (plate example), 130 x 117 x 28mm (1.25 lb), made from crystalline calcite (aragonite per Opitz) and translucent under bright light, holed in the center and attached with plant fiber rope for carrying, a lovely and portable example of this famous ethnographic currency, VF, RR, ex Charles Opitz Collection $1,500 - 2,000

Known locally as rai or fei, the Yap stone money is a disc-shaped stone with a hole in the center for transportation, with sizes ranging from 12 feet to a mere 2 inches in diameter. The stone for making rai is not found on Yap itself and was instead sourced from Palau, located some 280 miles (450km) away. Before the arrival of European traders, a Yapese chief would grant permission to a work crew to sail to Palau, manufacture the money, and bring them back in their canoes. Due to the limited means of transportation, these stones were no larger than 4 feet. Bigger examples did not appear until the arrival of Western traders and their large ships in the late 19th century. Stone money was produced as late as 1931, and a contemporary survey found a total of 13,281 pieces on Yap. However, many were destroyed and used for road construction during WWII, and only half are estimated to have survived to the present day. Furthermore, it has been illegal to export them from Yap since 1965. Hence all examples of the stone money on the market are very rare and highly sought after.

Due to their size and fragility, the larger stones are not physically exchanged in a transaction, and are simply displayed in public, often outside of one's house or on the side of a road. Instead, each stone has a unique oral history of ownership that is agreed on and widely known to the community. In fact, one stone, according to oral tradition, fell into the ocean during a storm just before it reached the island. But because everyone agreed that the stone is still there, it continued to be used just like any other stone money, long after anyone had seen it. This fascinating practice follows the same principle behind the blockchain technology used in cryptocurrency and foreshadows the cashless transactions that we take for granted every day.

This particular piece was a deacquisition from the Money Museum of Detroit, acquired by the consignor in 1986.

From Professor C. G. Seligman in "The Melanesians of British New Guinea" (1910, Cambridge : Cambridge University Press, p.93): arm-shells, toea, as they are called by the Motu, are traded from the Port Moresby district westward to the Gulf of Papua. Among the Motu and Koita, near Port Moresby, they are highly valued, and nowadays attain very high prices, much more than is paid for the same article among the Massim." Due to its cultural significance, toea was adopted as the name of the currency of Papua New Guinea in 1975 (= 0.01 kina).
