Siege of Zara 4 Francs-60 Centimes
Lovely, Lustrous and Bold in PCGS MS62!

1182. ZARA: French Occupation, AR 4 francs-60 centimes, 1813, KM-1. Dav-49, Siege of Zara during the War of the Sixth Coalition issue; crowned eagle standing left on thunderbolt, head right, with wings spread; ZARA to left, 1813 at right; all within diamond incuse // 1.0. / 4F 60C in two lines on tablet; all within incuse square, an absolutely lovely example with lustrous fields and boldly struck! PCGS graded MS62 $5,000 - 7,000

The Siege of Zara took place between 22 November and 5 December 1813, during the Adriatic Campaign of the Napoleonic Wars. During the siege, an Anglo-Austrian force under command of George Cadogan in HMS Havannah blockaded and bombarded Zara (modern day Zadar), which was then held by a French garrison. Within two weeks, the garrison surrendered to the attackers.

1183. AUSTRIAN NETHERLANDS: Franz II, 1792-1806, AR kronenthaler, 1793-A, KM-62.1, a lovely mint state example with bright lustrous surfaces! PCGS graded MS62+ $900 - 1,000

With incorrect denomination the PCGS label.

1184. BELGIUM: Leopold I, 1831-1865, AR 2½ francs, 1849, KM-11, Cr-19, small edge defect, variety with small bust, rare denomination, VF-EF, R, ex Joe Sedillot Collection $200 - 260

A Superb Selection of Crimean Coins of Shahin Giray

1186. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, 60 para (altmishlik, rouble) (21.13g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 4, A-A2111, Sariev-321 (same dies), Retowski-107/108, Bitkin-1, 2nd series, toughra on the obverse, flanked by two floral symbols, some central weakness, choice EF, RRR,
ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6568 $4,500 - 6,000

1187. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, 40 para (piaster, ghruÜ, ½ rouble) (15.87g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 4, A-A2112, Sariev-326 (same dies), Retowski-109/112, Bitkin-5, 2nd series, toughra on the obverse, flanked by two floral symbols, a few tiny scratches on both sides, EF, RR,
ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6569 $4,000 - 5,000

1188. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, 40 para (piaster, ghrush, ½ rouble) (15.94g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 5, A-2112, Sariev-459, Retowski-160, Bitkin-8, 3rd series, toughra on the obverse, flanked by two large floral symbols, oblique reeded edge, some weight adjustment marks on the reverse, EF, RR, ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6570 $4,000 - 5,000

1189. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, AR 20 para (yirmilik, ¼ rouble) (7.56g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 5, A-2113, Sariev-461, Retowski-162/164, Bitkin-15, 3rd series, toughra on the obverse, flanked by two large floral symbols, oblique reeded edge, tiny flan defect on the edge, EF, RRR, ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6571 $3,500 - 4,500

1190. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, AR 5 para (5 kopeck) (1.32g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 4, A-A2115, Sariev-334 (same dies), Retowski-115, Bitkin-18, 2nd series, toughra obverse with 3 small floral symbols, plain edge, small flower before the date, struck on a planchet cut from the edge of the silver sheet, EF-AU, RRR $2,400 - 3,000

1191. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, AR para (kopeck) (0.36g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 4, A-B2115, Sariev-338, Retowski-117, Bitkin-22, 2nd series, toughra obverse, plain edge, small flower after the date, EF, RRR $800 - 1,200

1192. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, AR 5 para (5 kopeck) (1.24g), Baghcha Saray, AH1191 year 5, A-2115, Sariev-468 (same dies), Retowski-167, Bitkin-21, 3rd series, toughra on the obverse, flanked by two large floral symbols, oblique reeded edge, no flowers around the date, bold strike, choice EF, RRR, ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6572 $3,500 - 4,500

The small silver fractions of the second series (para and 5 para) are much rarer than the three larger pieces (20 para, 40 para, and 60 para), seldom offered for sale and missing from the important collection sold by Künker in 2013 (Auction 234), Sincona in 2013 (Auction 12) and from the Dick Nauta collection sold in our Auction 40.

1193. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, AE tschal (ischal) (81.57g), Kaffa, AH1191 year 5, A-2117, Sariev-472 (same dies), Retowski 235/236, Bitkin-63, 52mm, 3rd series, toughra // mint & date, oblique reeding, bold strike without any weakness, a truly gorgeous example of this massive denomination, VF-EF, R, ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6586 $1,800 - 2,400

1194. CRIMEA: (GIRAY KHANS): Shahin Giray, 1777-1783, silverwashed AE pattern (51.98g), Kaffa, AH1191 year 5, A-—, Sariev-459 (this piece), 3rd series, toughra // mint & date, oblique reeding; pattern for an undetermined denomination, possibly the ischal (tschal), though the silverwash suggests that it might be a pattern for crown-size silver coin that was never issued; probably unique and apparently unknown to Retowski, VF-EF, RRRR, ex Künker Auction 234 Lot 6585 $3,000 - 3,500

A mint was set up in Sadogura in Ukraine by the Baron von Asch, which struck coins for Moldavia & Wallachia 1771-1774, then moved the minting machinery to Kaffa circa 1779 or 1780 to strike coins for Shahin Giray, essentially copper coins (with a minuscule added silver), plus a few gold & silver medals. According to Lutz Ilisch, the mint operated for only about ten months, mainly in regnal year 5 and briefly into the year 6. Sariev reckoned the coin as the tschal, citing this piece as 81.98g, which would be appropriate for the tschal, but the weight was correctly stated in the Künker auction as 51.92g (sic), far too light for the tschal.

Crusader Kindgoms

1195. CRUSADERS: KINGDOM OF JERUSALEM: Late series, ca. 1220s-1260s, AV bezant (3.43g), CCS-5b, A-730, derived from Fatimid dinars of al-'Amir al-Mansur (1101-1130), 1 pellet below obverse field, EF $350 - 450

Pipes/drums reader and piping scholar Jeannie Campbell said, "Concerning the 1902 Medal, the winner was William Ross, born 1865 in Urquhart, Ross-shire, parents John Ross, Annie Davidson, died 1930 in Edinburgh. (Brother of P-M George Ross, Black Watch.) William enlisted 1889 Black Watch. Served in Crete during the insurrection, April 1894 Pipe-Corporal 2nd Black Watch at Maryhill Barracks. October 1894, P-M 1st Seaforth. 1896-98 Sudan campaign. Wounded Atbara April 1898. June 1900 P-M on permanent staff 4th Militia Batt HLI. 1900 HLI South African War. Awarded long service and good conduct medals 1909. Discharged on pension 1912. 1914-16 P-M Royal Scots (Queens Edinburgh Rifles) at home Edinburgh. Won Oban Gold Medal 1902. Composer of "Olive Groves of Candia". He accompanied the Scottish Curlers to Canada 1911-12. When asked how he enjoyed himself he replied, 'My, it was cold out there, but they kept some grand whisky.' He married Hughina Cameron 1894 in Hillhead Glasgow when he was a Lance-Corporal in the Black Watch stationed at Maryhill Barracks. Children: Johanna 1894, Williamina 1897, John 1900." William Ross should not be confused with Pipe Major Willie Ross, the legendary Pipe Major of the Scots Guards. In piping history, there are at least four reasonably well-known pipers who were called William Ross and two of these won the Gold Medal.

These exceptionally rare matte proof finish coins were struck especially at the Royal Mint for photographic purposes, from around the mid-1920's until as late as the mid-1970's. As flash photography was used to illustrate promotional material, the brilliant Proofs caused too much reflection in the resulting image at this period of time to be acceptable and it was much easier to literally strike a few examples with a satin matte finish, so as not to reflect the flash in days before digital imaging was possible.

We have found no other record of this medalet.

The Battle of Greece (also known as Operation Marita, German: Unternehmen Marita) is the common name for the invasion of Allied Greece by Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany during World War II. The Italian invasion in October 1940, which is usually known as the Greco-Italian War, was followed by the German invasion in April 1941. German landings on the island of Crete (May 1941) came after Allied forces had been defeated in mainland Greece. These battles were part of the greater Balkan Campaign of the Axis powers and their associates.

Crippa cites examples in lead or tin like this one.

Unlike the Cisalpine Republic, the Italian Republic did not produce any silver currency intended for circulation. This pattern demonstrates the move towards a decimal coinage, being a scudo of 5 lire and no longer the 6 lire of the Cisalpine Republic. The Italian Republic was converted to the Kingdom of Italy in 1805.

1331. SPAIN (VISIGOTHIC): Leovigild, 568-586, AV tremissis (1.49g), Cordoba, 584, MEC I—, Miles-30c, CNV-30, bust of the king facing, + LEOVIGILDVS REX // bust of the king facing, + CORDOBA BIS OPTINVIT, one of only a few examples known, NGC graded AU55, RRR $1,000 - 1,500

The extraordinary reverse Latin legend, Cordoba bis optinuit ("Cordoba twice obtained"), commemorates Leovigild's recapture of the city in 584 during the failed revolt led by his son, Hermenegild. The Visigothic king had previously captured the city from the Byzantine Empire in 572, during an illustrious reign that saw him conquer almost the entire Iberian peninsula.

Struck from the same reverse die as the example at the State Hermitage Museum in St. Petersburg, Russia. We cannot find another example of this type in an auction.

1336. SWEDEN: Erik XIV, 1560-1568, AR 16 öre klippe, Stockholm, 1563, Hob-23, with dots between E and R, PCGS graded XF45 $300 - 400

The Swedish crown's coffers were soon emptied after Erik XIV had acceded the throne in 1560. The silver coins contained gradually less silver through the 1560s and coin production was not quick enough to pay the country's expenses. Square-cut coins, called 'Klippes' reduced production time considerably and large numbers of Klippe coins with denominations 16, 8, 4 and 2 öre were produced from 1562-68.

1337. SWEDEN: Adolf Frederick, 1751-1771, AE ½ daler silvermynt (386g), 1755, KM-PM80, Opitz p.255 (plate example), 116 x 92mm, "plate money" issue, some light scratches, a very nice example, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $300 - 500

From 1624, daler were issued in copper as well as silver. Because of the low value of copper, large plate money (plåtmynt) was issued. These were rectangular pieces of copper weighing, in some cases, up to several kilograms. They circulated until 1776. As silver became scarce, the silver daler rose in value relative to the copper daler, with the exchange rate between the two eventually being set at a ratio of 3 to 1. Denominations in copper money were marked K.M. or KMT, with S.M. or SMT denoting silver money. The cumbersome size and weight of plate money eventually prompted Sweden to become the first country in Europe to issue banknotes.

1338. SWEDEN: Karl XIV Johan, 1818-1844, AR 1/3 riksdaler, Stockholm, 1818, KM-M60, SM-97, Largesse Money (kastmynt) For The King's Coronation of 1818, reverse legends translates as "The love of the people is my reward", PCGS graded Specimen 64 , ex Coin Galleries Auction, 8 Nov 2000, Lot 1051 $300 - 400

1462. TUNISIA: SET of 14 silver trial strikes, trial strikes for each of the 7 denominations of regular coinage: silver trial strikes of the normally aluminum 1, 2, and 5 millim (KM-280-282, all dated 1960) and the normally brass 10, 20, 50, and 100 millim (KM-306-309, dated 1960/AH1380, except for the 50 millim which is dated 1983/AH1403), uniface obverse and uniface reverse of each denomination, all in silver, thus a total of 14 pieces; all struck on polished planchets and all in choice Uncirculated condition, set of 14 pieces $800 - 1,000

This series is known in both silver, like this set, and in gold, but none are reported for the original base metals. It is believed that they were struck at the Kremnica Mint in Slovakia, but the actual date of production is unknown; the earliest examples recorded on CoinArchives were sold in 2013, representing 3 sets in silver, 2 sets in gold, one partial set in gold, and some lots containing only two pieces, the uniface obverse & reverse of a specific denomination. The 1 & 2 millim (millièmes) are dated 1960 only, the 5 millim until 1996, then replaced by a slightly different design in 1997; the 10, 20, 50 & 100 millim until at least 2017 or 2018, though around 2010 the metal content was changed from brass to brass-plated steel. The 10 through 100 millim were dated first in 1960, then in 1983, with the next year 1993 for all four. There are two minor variations for each of the 1983 20, 50 & 100 millim coins, the first where the number "1" of the Hijri date 1403 points directly below the apostrophe above (large date), the second where it point to the right of the apostrophe (small date). On the 50 millim trial strike obverse the "1" points right of the apostrophe. This would suggest that the trial set was intended to represent the second series dated 1983 (and the continuation of the frozen-dated 1, 2, and 5 millim of 1960), thus at some time between 1983 and 1992. However, it remains undetermined why these were struck and for what purpose. Could these have been presentation pieces struck at the Kremnica Mint to demonstrate their ability to the Tunisian government?

United States of America

1596. UNITED STATES: AE slave hire badge (9.47g), 1846, Greene p.120-34, 56mm, diamond-shaped flan with clipped edges and piercing (as made), stamped with CHARLESTON / PORTER / 1846 and punched with the badge number 1102, EF, RR, ex Charles Opitz Collection $2,000 - 2,500

While the slave hire system existed across the Antebellum South, only Charleston, "the Jerusalem of American slavery, its capital and center of faith", issued physical badges from the late 18th century until the final days of the Confederacy. Each year, slaveowners could pay a fee to the city to apply, which would allow a slave to be hired out for jobs ranging from servant and porter to fisherman and mechanic. The latter would be required to wear his or her own badge at all times, or face a fine, lashings, or conscription to a public workhouse. Though the slaves would usually only receive a small portion of the pay, the money and the right to travel around the city gave them a measure of freedom beyond the confines of their homes. It also aroused the jealousy and hatred of poor white laborers, who could not compete with the slaves' low wages, as well as indignant citizens who protested bitterly in the city's newspapers about the moral dangers of allowing them too much freedom.

This lot is accompanied by "Slave Badges and the Slave-Hire System in Charleston, South Carolina, 1783-1865" (Greene et al., 2004), courtesy of the consignor.

1600. UNITED STATES:AE medal (64.50g), 1986, Betts-615, Bucket-793, 47mm bronze Libertas Americana Medal by A. Dupré, 1986 Paris Mint restrike, bust of Liberty left, with pole and Liberty cap behind with LIBERTAS. AMERICANA. around and “4 JUIL. 1776.” in exergue // Hercules as a child fighting with two snakes, with Minerva holding off lion with Fleur-de-Lis shield, with NON SINE DIIS ANINOSUS INFANS. around and “17 1777 / OCT. / 19 1781" in exergue, nice light copper color, a few obverse field marks, ”1986 BRONZE" on edge with cornucopia privy mark, UNC $150 - 250

The childlike Hercules on the back embodies the young American Union of 13 colonies, which fights its enemies under the protection of France (= Minerva with a lily shield). The lion stands for Great Britain; the retracted tail identifies him as a coward. The two snakes Hercules wrestles with represent the battles of Saratoga (1777) and Yorktown (1781), noted by dates in the exergue.
Benjamin Franklin conceived this medal and arranged for it to be produced, of which originally 300 pieces were minted in bronze, 55 pieces in silver and also two pieces in gold - for Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette. His correspondence shows that the production of the dies was completed in March 1782. A few letters have survived from the spring of 1783 relating to Franklin’s donation of the medals to various dignitaries. The medals were probably made in the course of 1782 or early 1783.

The designer and engraver was Edward Hulseman, and the coin was privately produced by H.M. & E.I. Richards of Attleboro, Massachusetts. An obvious error on Hulseman's part was to misspell the denomination as "Hapa Haneri" instead of "Hapa Hanele." Although the coin was a disappointment to the Hawaiians, the cent remained legal tender until 1884 and circulated even later.

1625. HAWAII: Kalakaua, 1874-1891, AR 10 cents, 1883, KM-3, Y-2, lightly cleaned, one-year type, AU, ex Joe Sedillot Collection $175 - 225

The master hubs and dies for this coinage were prepared by the United States Mint's Chief Engraver, Charles Barber. He worked from designs submitted by Spreckels and subsequently modified by Mint Director Horatio C. Burchard. The circulating coinage of King Kalakaua was executed at the San Francisco Mint between November of 1883 and June of 1884, though all pieces bore the earlier date.

1628. HAWAII: Kalakaua, 1874-1891, AR dollar (akahi dala), 1883, KM-7, lustrous fields, lightly cleaned, PCGS graded UNC details, , ex Joe Sedillot Collection $500 - 700

1635. AFGHANISTAN: coral & silver necklace, ca. 85cm, consisting of a large dumbbell-shaped silver ornament with numerous orange coral beads, black Venetian glass beads, and other smaller silver ornaments, VF-EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $140 - 180

1636. AFRICA: amber beads (41.14g), Opitz (2011) p.56, comprising 13 auburn beads roughly 15-20mm in diameter, used in trade by the Berbers and others for many centuries, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $75 - 100

1637. AFRICA: hippopotamus tooth (569g), Opitz p.157, front incisor ca. 32cm long and 45x40mm at the base, small chip near the base and no open cracks, used in trade for iron, tobacco and clothing in Timbuktu, Choice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 250

Unlike the curved canines, front incisors are much denser and heavier.

1638. AFRICA: iron ring (321g), Opitz p.276 (plate example), consisting of a 75 x 65 x 50mm ring mounted with spiked wings, a very old example from East Africa, believed to be used as both weapon and money, somewhat encrusted, Fine , ex Charles Opitz Collection $75 - 100

Opitz divides African metal currencies into 3 rough catergories based on their utility. The first category includes objects where the distinction between their use as tools and use as money is minor. The second category includes those that retain their original shape, but are made of a finer, perhaps less practical material. Objects in the last category have completely lost their shape as practical tools and instead have a standardized weight and size, and are therefore strictly a currency. As metal was a scarce commodity in Africa before the 20th century, all three categories were considered extremely valuable and widely used in exchanges.

1639. AFRICA: string of 22 large amber beads, ca. 32-38mm in diameter, used as recently as the 1970's as bride price in Mali and Burkina Faso, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1640. AFRICA: trade bead necklace, Opitz p.42, string of classic 4-layer "rosetta" chevron beads, with 16 large blue, white and red beads ranging from 6mm to 24mm in diameter, some with lovely and vivid colors, VF-EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 250

1641. AFRICA: LOT of 4 copper & brass bracelets, measuring 99mm (142g), 61mm (45g), 59mm (51g), and 54mm (65g) across, respectively, decorated with various patterns, including two Hausa fancy bracelets (one a plate example Opitz p.279), , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1642. AFRICA: LOT of 4 rings, including Ethiopia: fine silver wedding ring (28mm, Opitz p.279 plate example), with a diamond-shaped exterior decorated with intricate meandering inlay, traditionally worn on a cotton cord around the neck rather than on a finger; Namibia: twisted silver ring (7mm, Opitz p.279 plate example), used as bride money in the early 1900's; and two light brass rings etched with geometric patterns; retail value $250, lot of 4 pieces, , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

1643. AUSTRALIA: human hair belt, Opitz (2011) p.255, comprising about 40 locks of hair, strung together on a braided string, used for bartering by the Kaytetye and the Warramunga people of the Northern Territory, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $80 - 120

1644. AUSTRALIA: teeth necklace, Opitz (2011) p.275, 80cm, with 74 teeth and numerous colorful glass beads, choice VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $80 - 120

1648. BRAZIL: tea money (61.98g), Opitz p.337 (plate example), ca. 17cm, made from ground guaraná seeds and shaped into an arapaima fish near Manaus, part of tail broken off, used for trade with the aboriginal people nearby, VF ,
ex Charles Opitz Collection $75 - 100

1649. BURMA/MYANMAR: LOT of 2 brass bell necklaces, including a 34cm-long string with 3 bells & 4 jingle bells, and a 54cm-long string with numerous small jingle bells, both strung together with twine and filled with hundreds of small brass discs, lovely old examples; retail value $175, lot of 2 pieces, ,
ex Charles Opitz Collection $75 - 100

1650. BURMA/MYANMAR: LOT of 2 silver betel nut boxes, Opitz (2011) p.120 (plate examples), including a larger oval example (74 x 43 x 37mm, 53.27g) and a smaller round example (45 x 29mm, 20.20g), both with intricate decorative patterns on the lid, likely from before 1900, used to store betel nuts and leaves and as bride price; retail value $150, lot of 2 pieces, ,
ex Charles Opitz Collection $75 - 100

1651. CAMEROUN: brass dowry necklace, Opitz (2011) p.386 (plate example), comprising 3 strings of brass beads and pendants (each ca. 75cm long), bound together at the ends with several large glass and brass beads, a rather old example, VF ,
ex Charles Opitz Collection $200 - 300

1652. CANADA: potlatch shield piece (10.14g), Opitz p.265-70 (plate example), 33 x 71mm fragment from a copper shield, exchanged along with blankets, canoes, fish oil and other items during the potlatch ceremony of various tribes of the Pacific Northwest, VF ,
ex Charles Opitz Collection $200 - 250

The potlatch was a fundamentally competitive gift-giving ceremony among the indigenous people of the Canadian Pacific Northwest. Through the gifting, or sometimes outright destruction of one's own property (e.g., slashing up one's otter pelts, killing one's slaves), an individual publicly displays his own wealth, thereby reaffirming both his horizontal lineage and vertical hierarchy of rank. These ceremonies, which can take many years to prepare, also allowed tribes to settle old debts and scores through such competitions in lieu of conflict and bloodshed.

1653. CENTRAL AFRICAN REPUBLIC: iron throwing knife (523g), cf. Opitz p.180-87, 46.5 x 16.5cm, fitted with a wooden handle wrapped in copper wire, a couple cracks in the center of the blade, VF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $150 - 250

1654. CHINA: horn necklace, early to mid-20th century, consisting of a 10.5cm-long animal horn with intricately carved patterns, a vertebra, 6 Qing cash coins (Qianlong, Jiaqing, and 4 of Daoguang; 5 of Yunnan mint), two buttons and many small beads, all strung together on a hand-woven cord ending in numerous coarse red tassels, EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

Deacquisition from the Money Museum of Detroit. Judging from the Manchu mintmarks, this necklace was likely made by one of the many tribes of Yunnan Province.

1655. CONGO (DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC): brass bracelet (496g), 128 x 113 x 88mm, fashioned from a single sheet of brass into a cylinder with flared edges, etched with geometric patterns worn by tribes in the eastern Congo, VF-EF , ex Charles Opitz Collection $100 - 150

Tevau (teau) feather coil money is composed of some 50,000 to 60,000 red feathers of the scarlet honeyeater bird (Myzomela cardinalis). It was used as a currency in bridal transactions and for other large expenditures on the Islands of Santa Cruz in eastern Melanesia. Depending on the condition and the visibility of the red feathers, the coils were valued differently. A first-grade coil had to be brilliantly red. Until the mid-20th century, the bride price was ten coils of different grades. For that, some families ran up debts for the rest of their lives. Only hereditary currency binders were authorized to make feather coils. A full coil could take them 500 to 600 man-hours, making it prohibitively expensive. It ceased to be used as money in the late 1970s, but continues to serve as indicators of value and objects of prestige to this day.
